EXPLANATORY NOTE

Biographies are shown for Department employees of grade GS–11 (General Schedule) and above.

In the Foreign Service groups, biographies are included for Ambassadors, Ministers, all Foreign Service officers, all Foreign Service Reserve officers, all Foreign Service Staff officers of class nine and above, and certain Foreign Service Staff officers in classes ten, eleven, and twelve.

Incomplete biographic information is shown in cases where biographic data was not submitted.

Additional information concerning the Foreign Service of the United States may be found in the quarterly Foreign Service List, published by the Department of State and sold by the Superintendent of Documents. All American diplomatic and consular officers are listed in that publication at their respective posts; the January issue, each year, contains a description of the consular districts, the tariff of Foreign Service fees, and a table of retired Foreign Service officers receiving annuities.

Assignments at international conferences for all personnel of the Department of State and other Government agencies are included in the publication, Participation of the United States Government in International Conferences, issued annually by the Department of State.

[1] The title "Secretary of State" dates from September 15, 1789. From July 27 to September 15, 1789, this officer was entitled "Secretary for the Department of Foreign Affairs"; prior thereto, "Secretary to the United States of America for the Department of Foreign Affairs." The Secretary of State is not appointed for a fixed term and does not necessarily go out of office with the President who appointed him. Although he tenders his resignation at the time of a change in administration, he usually remains formally at the head of the Department until his successor assumes the duties of the office.

Minister plenipotentiary to France: elected March 10, 1785. Left France for the United States September 26, 1789; succeeded by William Short as chargé d'affaires.

Jefferson served simultaneously under these two commissions.

John Lamb, of Connecticut

Agent of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson [13] to the Dey and Government of Algiers: appointed October 5, 1785, by Adams and October 11, 1785, by Jefferson; accompanied on the mission by Paul R. Randall, as secretary; mission unsuccessful.

Henry Laurens, of South Carolina

Minister plenipotentiary to the Netherlands to negotiate a treaty and a loan: elected and commissioned November 1, 1779; sailed for the Netherlands August 13, 1780; captured by the British September 3, 1780, and taken to the Tower of London, where he was confined until his exchange for Burgoyne early in 1782.

---

[8] Although for many years active in the cause of the United States in Europe, Dumas was never formally commissioned by Congress.

[9] Thomas Jefferson was also appointed but did not go to Paris on this mission.

[10] The commission was composed of Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, and John Adams, as ministers plenipotentiary.

[11] Elected Secretary for Foreign Affairs May 7, 1784.

[12] On September 26, 1776, Thomas Jefferson had been elected one of three commissioners to the court of France, but had declined the appointment; also, on June 14, 1781, he had been appointed joint commissioner to negotiate a peace with Great Britain but did not go on the mission.

[13] Ministers plenipotentiary to negotiate treaties with foreign powers; authorized by Congress March 11, 1785, to appoint agents to represent them.
